PRESS KIT
2018-2019 SEASON
MISSION & HISTORY

Ballet Hispánico, the premier Latino dance organization in the United States, brings individuals and communities together to celebrate and explore Latino cultures through dance. Whether dancing on stage, in school, or in the street, Ballet Hispánico creates a space where few institutions are breaking ground.

The organization’s founder, National Medal of Arts recipient Tina Ramirez, sought to give voice to the Hispanic experience and break through stereotypes. Today, Ballet Hispánico is led by Eduardo Vilaro, an acclaimed choreographer and former member of the Company, whose vision of social equity, cultural identity and quality arts education for all drives its programs.

Ballet Hispánico, a role model in and for the Latino community, is inspiring creativity and social awareness in our neighborhoods and across the country by providing access to arts education.
Artistic Director & CEO

EDUARDO VILARO joined Ballet Hispánico as Artistic Director in August 2009, becoming only the second person to head the company since it was founded in 1970. In 2015, Mr. Vilaro took on the additional role of Chief Executive Officer of Ballet Hispánico. He has been part of the Ballet Hispánico family since 1985 as a dancer and educator, after which he began a ten-year record of achievement as founder and Artistic Director of Luna Negra Dance Theater in Chicago. Mr. Vilaro has infused Ballet Hispánico’s legacy with a bold and eclectic brand of contemporary dance that reflects America’s changing cultural landscape. Born in Cuba and raised in New York from the age of six, he is a frequent speaker on the merits of cultural diversity and dance education.

Mr. Vilaro’s own choreography is devoted to capturing the spiritual, sensual and historical essence of Latino cultures. He created over 20 ballets for Luna Negra and has received commissions from the Ravinia Festival, the Chicago Sinfonietta, the Grant Park Festival, the Lexington Ballet and the Chicago Symphony. In 2001, he was a recipient of a Ruth Page Award for choreography, and in 2003, he was honored for his choreographic work at Panama’s II International Festival of Ballet. Mr. Vilaro was also inducted into the Bronx Walk of Fame in 2016 and was awarded HOMBRE Magazine’s 2017 Arts & Culture Trailblazer of the Year.

-The New York Times
Through the fresh, relevant new works of the Ballet Hispánico repertory, Artistic Director & CEO Eduardo Vilaro continues to explore the Latino voice in dance. Each season brings choreography from contemporary masters and emerging stars. These artists reinvigorate the Company’s aesthetic so that it resonates with a new generation of audiences. Works are organized by the choreographer.

ANNABELLE LOPEZ OCHOA

ANNABELLE LOPEZ OCHOA (Choreographer) has been choreographing since 2003 following a twelve-year dance career in various contemporary dance companies throughout Europe. She has created works on fifty companies worldwide including Ballet Hispánico, Atlanta Ballet, Cincinnati Ballet, Compania Nacional de Danza, Dutch National Ballet, Finnish National Ballet, Royal Ballet of Flanders, Ballet du Grand Théâtre de Genève, Göteborg Ballet, Joffrey Ballet, BJM-Danse Montréal, New York City Ballet, Pacific Northwest Ballet, Pennsylvania Ballet, Tulsa Ballet, San Francisco Ballet and Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, to name a few. In 2012, her first full length work, A Streetcar Named Desire, originally created for Scottish Ballet, received the Critics’ Circle National Dance Award for “Best Classical Choreography” and was nominated for the prestigious Olivier Award for Best New Dance Production the following year.

Sombrerísimo (2013)
An absorbing exploration of identity, Sombrerísimo makes references to the surrealist world of the Belgian painter René Magritte, famous for his paintings of men in bowler hats.

“With its elastic groupings, acrobatic partnering, and touches of Latin sexiness, Sombrerísimo proved an effective vehicle for the company’s men. The liveliest dance of the evening, it received the greatest ovation.”
- Brian Seibert, The New York Times

“Ms. Lopez Ochoa’s choreography filled the space with eye-popping movement and brilliant interaction between the six men....[the] dancers all dazzled with electrifying moves, athletic partnering and ample sex-appeal. The crowd went nuts at the end of this piece.”
- Wendy Perron, Dance Magazine

Línea Recta (2016)
Línea Recta pairs the hallmark passion of flamenco dance with highly inventive and intricate partnering, performed to Spanish classical guitar.

“Línea Recta explores how a hybridization of traditional and contemporary steps allows for more physical contact between dancers than textbook flamenco would typically allow. It also shows the versatility of the dancers as they move adeptly between balletic and flamenco dance steps.”
- Brittney Feit, The Village Voice

“... I could watch it over and over again, world without end.”
- Juan Michael Porter III, The Huffington Post
MICHELLE MANZANALES

MICHELLE MANZANALES (Choreographer) is a choreographer and dance educator originally from Houston, TX who has created works for numerous professional companies, universities, and schools including Cerqua Rivera Dance Theatre (Chicago, IL), Houston Metropolitan Dance Company under the direction of Dorrell Martin, the University of Houston, and Rice University among others. In 2007, Manzanales created Sugar in the Raw (Azucar Cruda) for Luna Negra Dance Theater, which was applauded by the Chicago Sun-Times as “a staggering, beautiful, accomplished new work.” In 2010, her homage to Frida Kahlo, Paloma Querida, was hailed as a “visual masterpiece” by Lucia Mauro of the Chicago Tribune.

Con Brazos Abiertos (2017)
Michelle Manzanales explores with humility, nostalgia and humor the iconic Mexican symbols that she was reluctant to embrace as a Mexican-American child growing up in Texas. Intertwining folkloric details with a distinctly contemporary voice in dance, set to music that ranges from Julio Iglesias to rock en español, Con Brazos Abiertos is a fun and frank look at a life caught between two cultures.

“Fresh and funny, Ms. Manzanales’s work grapples with her ambivalence toward her Mexican-American identity — symbolized by the sombreros and voluminous skirts that she mocks but also mines for beauty. The strains of hyphenated identity are exhausting, a voice-over explains, but this dance is mostly a delight.”

- Brian Seibert, The New York Times

TANIA PÉREZ-SALAS

TANIA PÉREZ-SALAS (Choreographer) was born in Mexico City. She obtained her first significant recognition in 1993, when she received the award for Best Female Performer in the National Dance Competition of Mexico. Since then, she has won national and international recognition as both a dancer and choreographer, including the National and Continental Prizes for Choreography in Mexico and the sixth Paris International Dance Competition, among others. In 1994, Pérez-Salas founded the Tania Pérez-Salas Compañía de Danza. The Company has been invited to perform her work in some of the most important theaters and festivals in Mexico, the United States, Canada, South America, China, the Middle East, and Europe. Her work is based on universal themes, which she presents from unique angles. For example, a satire on technology, informs Biography of Desire (Biografia del Deseo); the dimensions of death and life are inherent in Visitor (Visitante); femininity in The Hours (Las Horas); love and sensuality in Anabiosis; water, with its infinite power of conveying metaphors and images in The Waters of Forgetfulness (Las Aguas del Olvido); or reviving literary texts as in Clodia, the Impudent (Clodia la Impúdica).
One of the leading voices of Mexican contemporary dance, Tania Pérez-Salas draws inspiration from the number Pi to reflect on the circularity of our movement through life. With intense theatricality and breathtaking imagery set to music by Vivaldi and other Baroque composers, 3. Catorce Dieciséis is a joyful feast for the senses.

“3. Catorce Dieciséis showcased the company’s technique and was the most artistically integrated work on the program. Set to music by Vivaldi and other Baroque composers, the piece moved seamlessly through a series of scenes as through a kaleidoscope: the colours and moods shifting but ever moving forward. Quick, sharp movements, unexpected flexes of the feet and undulations of the back and chest, brought out the astringent quality in the music, making it sound thoroughly up to date. Unlike the others, this piece is not meant to be fun, yet as a picture of the human condition — keep moving or die — it was beautiful.”
- Robin J. Miller, Dance International Magazine

CARLOS PONS GUERRA

CARLOS PONS GUERRA (Choreographer) is an independent choreographer who has created work on dancers from companies such as Rambert, Northern Ballet, Attakkalari Centre for Movement Arts (India), ENDanza (Dominican Republic), Verve, Elmhurst School of Dance (Associate School of Birmingham Royal Ballet) and more, as well as receiving commissions from international dance institutions such as Sadler’s Wells, The Lowry, Birmingham Hippodrome, and the British Council. Carlos founded his company, DeNada Dance Theatre, in 2012, and has created four works for it since. His triple bill for DeNada, Ham and Passion, has had two international tours, playing across the UK, as well as internationally in the Caribbean and Europe. In 2015, Carlos was nominated for the UK Critics’ Circle National Dance Awards, in the category of Best Emerging Artist, and in 2016, his company received two nominations for the same awards: “Best Independent Company” and “Outstanding Female Performance (Modern)” for dancer Marivi Da Silva’s role in Carlos’ work, Young Man!

Waiting for Pepe (2018)
Federico García Lorca’s 1936 play, The House of Bernarda Alba, tells the story of five Andalusian sisters confined by their tyrannical mother to eight years of strict mourning. Taking its initial inspiration from this iconic play, Waiting for Pepe expands the walls and number of inhabitants of Bernarda Alba’s house. The dance reflects on our current world, where domineering figures like García Lorca’s infamous matriarch are appearing across the globe. These figures draw a raw, absurd, and darkly comical portrait of the yearning, tension, and hysteria that oppressed communities experience when they are denied the beautifully feathered bird that is sexual, religious, and individual freedom.
“The piece seemed to morph from a broad yet individualized examination of bullying and the shame of feeling different into an exploration of themes in the Garcia Lorca play that Pons Guerra had found so enlightening.”

-Jerry Hochman, CriticalDance

“Valls was extraordinarily wild and crazy and ... controlled – as well as dancing and emoting with exquisite agony. And she delivered a hauntingly anguished scream to match.”

-Jerry Hochman, CriticalDance

GUSTAVO RAMÍREZ SANSANO (Choreographer) was Artistic Director of Luna Negra Dance Theater (2009-2013), and now he combines his work as a freelance choreographer with the direction of Titoyaya Dansa, the company he founded in Spain with Veronica Garcia Moscardo in 2006. Sansano has received numerous awards for his choreography, including first prize at the Ricard Moragas Competition in Barcelona (1997), Prix Dom Perignon Choreographic Competition in Hamburg (2001), and Premio de Las Artes Escénicas de la Comunidad Valenciana (2005). Sansano has been commissioned to create works for many companies such as Nederlands Dans Theater, Compania Nacional de Danza, Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, Luzerner tanz Theater, Ballet BC, The Hamburg Ballet, Atlanta Ballet, Ballet Hispánico, and Luna Negra Dance Theater, among others.

CARMEN.maquia (2012) — available through the fall of 2020
A Picasso-inspired, contemporary take on Bizet’s beloved classic. The physically charged and sensual choreography fuses contemporary dance with nods to the Spanish paso doble and flamenco.

“Ramírez’s movement is refreshingly unique... Ballet Hispanico’s ensemble plays many parts and maneuvers through humorous and nuanced moments with ease and clarity.”

- Broadway World

“An experience unlike any other in the Latin dance space we’ve seen in quite some time... CARMEN.maquia continues to haunt us in the most beautiful way.”

- Latina
EDUARDO VILARO (Choreographer) joined Ballet Hispánico as Artistic Director in August 2009, following a ten-year record of achievement as Founder and Artistic Director of Luna Negra Dance Theater in Chicago. Mr. Vilaro is an accomplished choreographer, having created over 20 ballets for Luna Negra and others such as the Ravinia Festival, the Chicago Sinfonietta, the Lexington Ballet, and the Civic Ballet of Chicago. He has worked in collaboration with major dance and design artists as well as musicians like Paquito D’Rivera, Susana Baca, Luciana Souza, the Grant Park Orchestra, and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. In 2001 he was a recipient of a Ruth Page Award in choreography, and in 2003 he was honored at Panama’s II International Festival of Ballet for his choreographic work. A former principal dancer with Ballet Hispánico, Mr. Vilaro has performed throughout the United States, Europe, Central and South America.

Danzón (2009)
Initially evolved from Haitian contradance, the danzón has been called the official dance of Cuba. Eduardo Vilaro has taken this traditional and quintessentially Cuban dance form and reinvented it with contemporary language to construct a joyous celebration of music and movement.

“An authentically rousing number.... The dancers, with their supple backs, effortless turns and perfectly pointed bare feet made it feel like a luxury.”

- Rebecca Ritzel, The Washington Post

“[Eduardo Vilaro’s Danzón is] above all a celebration — of romance and rhythm, of community and identity. It’s also masterfully choreographed, from fast-paced, tightly arranged sequences performed in perfect unison, to big, ballroom-y pas de deux, to a slow section set to a single drumbeat that reads almost like a warm-up or dance class.”

- Times Union

Asuka (2011)
Asuka is a celebration of the music of Celia Cruz through the lens of the Latino experience. Cruz, renowned as the “Queen of Salsa,” captured the heart of Latinos the world over and became a symbol of perseverance for many. Through rich imagery and humor, Eduardo Vilaro explores the struggles of departure from one’s homeland and the exuberance of success experienced by a community.

“A deliciously executed homage to the diva [Celia Cruz] with a spicy and tropical feel.”

- Havana Times

He has had the opportunity to participate in festivals and has won gold and bronze medals at international competitions. He has shared the stage with Carlos Acosta in his Tocororo and with Viengsay Valdes in Annabelle Lopez Ochoa’s Celeste. In 2017, Verdecia was awarded a Princess Grace Award in Dance.
“Ballet Hispánico is an example of what makes our country beautiful. It is about the stories of people from various perspectives and points of view, and their life experiences. It is an art to use ballet and dance to discuss various themes and ideas. And Ballet Hispánico does a wonderful job of exploring issues that are unique to the Latino community.”

– Broadway World

“Ballet Hispánico wows with transcendent dance.”

-Times Colonist

“Blazing passion both in movement and vision, Ballet Hispánico seeks to bring cultural identity to the world. Seeking not just to entertain, but to inspire, injecting Latin sparks into other art forms.”

–The Reviews Hub Scotland

“The New York-based company has become a staple of the American cultural scene.”

—Critic’s Pick, The Denver Post

“The members of Ballet Hispánico are 12 of the most technically accomplished and musical dancers you’ll find in the contemporary sphere.”

—The Washington Post

“(The Ballet Hispánico dancers] are, quite simply, stellar in both their stylistic malleability and their ability to create characters…. [they’re] gorgeous to look at and thrilling to watch—highly individualistic performers who can shift easily from ballet and modern to a whole range of Latin styles.”

—Chicago Sun-Times

“A sense of community possess the performers as they walk slowly, rhythmically, around the stage, their hips swaying, their expressions open.”

—The New Yorker

“Ballet Hispánico...is a sort of Latino counterpart to Alvin Ailey: a group that draws on and celebrates an ethnic tradition, but is not limited by it. Dazzlingly varied and spectacularly executed, the opening performance was a pleasure from beginning to end.”

—The Boston Globe

“The company’s momentum has changed stereotypes while exposing the beauty of the fusion of modern dance and ballet with Latin dances.”

—La Voz

“The Latin-flavored, New York-based contemporary ballet troupe Ballet Hispánico is dancing better than ever…. This is to the credit of artistic director Eduardo Vilaro.”

—Backstage

“Ballet Hispánico knows when to turn up the volume, and when to turn it down. This dance company can wake up the neighborhood with a sudden, brassy shout or it can croon softly in your ear, whispering words of love.”

—The Star Ledger

“These dancers can do literally anything; the women, moreover, are the most powerful I’ve seen.”

—The Reading Eagle

“Let me just say…the new work for Ballet Hispánico is terrific! I want that on the American Dance Festival program for certain! The men looked incredible. It was the highlight of the program last night [at NY City Center’s Fall for Dance Festival].”

—Jodee Nimerichter
Director, American Dance Festival
COMMUNITY ARTS PARTNERSHIPS (CAP)

Our CAP programs provide exploratory learning experiences of Latino culture in schools, businesses and community centers, public spaces and at university campuses. CAP includes in-school and after-school dance residencies that unite teaching artists with the school community; interactive performances featuring our second company, BHdos; and teacher training sessions, classroom workshops and master classes with Ballet Hispánico’s extraordinary Company members. CAP brings the enjoyment of Latino dance traditions to countless thousands across the country.

Presenters are urged to discuss these activities with Ballet Hispánico’s Company General Manager immediately upon booking the company. Ballet Hispánico looks forward to working with you to create a package of residency activities that meets your community’s specific needs.

COMMUNITY ARTS PARTNERSHIPS ON TOUR

Our CAP programs extend beyond the New York City area via our Company, which shares our commitment to cultural engagement and arts education to communities throughout the world. Residencies on tour are individually tailored to expose students to arts learning, support a cultural dialogue in the community, and share the power of dance with local educators and organizations.

COMMUNITY PERFORMANCES

Performances for Young People take audiences on a guided journey through Latin American dance and music. This interactive, fun-filled exploration features excerpts of Ballet Hispánico repertory, and is narrated by one of our master teaching artists. Latin music and cultural connections, choreography insights, and dance history come together to deepen the audience’s experience of dance. Students are exposed to world-class choreographers and the cultures of Spain, Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the Americas while learning about Latino icons such as Celia Cruz and Tito Puente.

Sensory-Friendly Performances provide a welcoming space for those with social and cognitive disabilities, including those on the autism spectrum. The performance is similar to our Performances for Young People, but serves the community by creating a safe space at the venue. Elements of the performance include house lights up during the show, specific engagement interactions, stage lighting, and sound geared for the audience.

Latin Social Dance (All Ages) This 50-minute beginner salsa class is ideal for community engagement. Class size can range from a small to large groups, depending on the venue. Participants of all ages and skill levels will enjoy taking a turn around the dance floor to irresistible Latin dance rhythms. Classes are typically taught by two of Ballet Hispánico’s principal Company members. Space and technical requirements: Adaptable to almost any location with a large open space, although carpeted areas or concrete floors are not recommended; wood floors are preferred.

Master Classes (Beginner, Intermediate & Advanced Dance Students) Ideal for dance students and professionals to develop and hone technical skills. Master classes are available for dancers of any skill level. Classes can be offered in the following techniques. Maximum of 25 participants per class. Advanced Salsa Partnering Class (character shoes preferred), Modern Master Class, and Ballet Master Class (classes for younger students available by request). Space and technical requirements: A professional dance studio, with a sprung floor and dance surface. Presenters are encouraged to provide a pianist or percussionist (modern) to accompany the class; otherwise, a sound system, CD, or iPod player is required.

Meet the Artists (All Ages) Pre-Performance Talk: Ballet Hispánico’s Artistic Director can be scheduled in advance to participate in pre-performance presentations, Q&A, or other audience gatherings, to discuss the concert repertory. Post-Performance Q&A: The Ballet Hispánico Company dancers and Artistic Director can participate in post-performance question-and-answer sessions, educational panels or seminars, informal gatherings, or special events (subject to availability). Space and technical requirements: Appropriate audio technical support is required.
Movement Workshops for Students (Grades K-12) 45-minute workshops in the schools are taught by a team of two Company dancers. The cultures reflected in these workshops come from such countries as Spain, Mexico, Brazil, Cuba, Honduras, and Puerto Rico. Workshops offer invaluable one-on-one interaction between Company dancers and students. Workshops can be conducted in Spanish, if desired. Multiple workshops can be conducted in one day. Maximum of 35 participants per class. Workshop content can be related directly to the repertory included in company performance and provide an ideal introduction or follow-up to attendance at a performance. Materials for educators can be used to help prepare students for dance workshops and attendance at performance. The workshops conform to national learning standards. Space and technical requirements: Open space such as a gymnasium, auditorium or dance studio; a CD or iPod player is required for each workshop. Interested presenters are strongly urged to contact Ballet Hispánico’s Company General Manager to discuss how best to maximize this activity in their community.

Professional Development Workshops for Teachers and Educators (Adults) Orientation Workshops for elementary, middle and high school teachers offer a first-hand experience of the dance forms that their students will experience in a performance, workshop, or one of Ballet Hispánico’s Performances for Young People. Workshop content provides an introduction to the use of dance in reinforcing other learning skills and complementing academic subjects. Workshop is led by a Ballet Hispánico Teaching Artist in advance of a Company residency. Space and technical requirements: An open space, such as a library, dance studio, auditorium or gym, with movable seating; CD or iPod player is required.
